The steamer Alameda ran from Sydney, Australia, to San Francisco in twenty three days, six hours and thirty minutes—the best recorded time.

Frauds Murphy, the well known temperance advocate, is leading a movement to form a non-temperance temperance party in Ohio. The prohibitionists dislike him more than ever.

General J. M. Hadrick died Sunday evening at Ottumwa, Iowa, in his 55th year. Besides his service in the field during the war he was a member of the court-martial which tried the assassin of President Lincoln.

The Queen Regent of Spain, with a kind, motherly thought, has ordered 300 pairs of little shoes to be distributed among the poor children of Madrid on the day on which the baby king is advanced to the dignity of leather shoes for the first time.

Hon. George Bancroft, the historian, Sunday received numerous letters congratulating him upon the eighty-sixth anniversary of his birthday. He died with Mr. and Mrs. John Astor, at Newport, Rhode Island, and was called upon by many friends during the day.

The internal revenue department has decided that beer barrels must have spigot-holes on one side and one end and that no barrel will be allowed to be used. The decision grew out of an appeal of Massachusetts manufacturers, who had been making barrels with spigot holes on the ends only.

The government of Belgium has sanctioned the project of holding in Brussels in the summer of 1888 an international exhibition of war material, and it is estimated that the cost of the exhibition, estimated at 20,000,000 francs, is already covered by subscriptions. Germany will take a leading part in the exhibition, one portion of which will comprise a complete collection of arms from the days of antiquity, another collection of all modern military uniforms, a third, portraits of the most famous soldiers of all times, etc.

A California newspaper says that the jolliest sport among juvenile Renoites is fighting ants. They scrape up a shovelful of these busy insects from one colony and carry them to the next nearest colony, dumping them together. The result is immediately a pitched battle, which is fought most viciously, the little warriors literally tearing each other to pieces, until the last of the interlopers is dead. They fight in pairs, or in threes, fours and bunches, as it happens to come handiest, but it is always "fight to finish," and no quarter asked or shown.

A sharp campaign against miscegenation has been initiated in the northern part of Louisiana. A recent public meeting adopted resolutions strongly denouncing the intermarriage and cohabitation of whites and blacks, and threatening to socially boycott all white men with negro wives or paramours. A vigilance committee of non-commissioned men was appointed to see that these living with negro women to leave them and lead a moral life. Another committee was appointed to correspond with prominent citizens in other parishes to endeavor to bring about the co-operation of all North Louisiana in this movement.

The next annual meeting of the American Missionary association is to be held in New Haven, Conn., Oct. 19-21. The annual sermon will be preached by Rev. Alexander McKim, D. D., of Cambridge, Mass. The sessions will be held in the First Congregational church, and will commence at 8 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. Some of the most prominent men in the Congregational denomination are announced to be present and to take part. The association is a national benevolent society. Its work is educational, religious and industrial, among the people of the south, white and colored, and among the Indians and Chinese in the west.

The Rev. Emory J. Haynes preached a sermon on the subject of "Shall I Join a Fraternity?" in Boston, on Sunday. It was a sermon of the visit of the Old Fellows to that city, and in it he spoke strong words in favor of college secret societies of the right sort. "I pay a debt of gratitude to this day," he said. "Years ago when I was from the State of Vermont and went to college, where I had the companionship of some young men who admitted me to their secret honors, and I pay honors to them. They were my friends, and they rebuked me when I did wrong and rejoiced with me when I did well. Then they cared for me and bent over me and saved my life when I was sick. I have a great respect for these secret societies. I owe as much to the watchfulness and sympathy of that society as I owe to the college itself."

The September fire loss in the United States and Canada, according to the estimate of the Commercial Bulletin, was $6,500,000, a slight decrease from the average September loss of previous years. The Bulletin's fire record contains mention of 125 September fires where the reported loss was $10,000 or more. There were twelve fires of over $100,000 during the month. Up to Oct. 1 the aggregate fire waste in 1886 was $83,000,000 against $71,000,000 for the same period of 1885. So that with October, November, and December yet to be heard from, there is no likelihood of a lower figure than $100,000,000 to be charged to fire in 1886.

ERIN AT HAWARDEN.

GLADSTONE'S HOME RECEIVES A THRONG OF IRISH ADMIRERS.

An Address From the Women of Ireland with Half a Million Names Appended—How in a Royal Commission—Englishable Story of the Admiralty Board—General Old World News.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Hawarden, the residence of Mr. Gladstone, was alive with visitors Monday. Mr. Gladstone and family met the deputations from Cork, Limerick, Waterford and Clonmel and the various officers of those cities on the lawn in front of the mansion. The ex-premier was repeatedly cheered by the visitors. The party, after the usual formalities on the lawn, proceeded to the library. Mrs. T. D. Sullivan, wife of the lord mayor of Dublin, then read the Irish women's address in favor of home rule. It bears the signatures of 500,000 Irish women. The mayor of Cork then presented Gladstone with the freedom of the city of Cork, and also, on behalf of the other mayors present, the freedom of Limerick, Waterford and Clonmel. To them, the chief ex-premier for his efforts in behalf of Ireland, and he would visit Ireland so that the Irish people could have an opportunity of showing their appreciation of his noble endeavors to secure peace for that country.

Gladstone, in reply, said that, owing to his great age, his visit was less with uncertainty. The Irish people would always largely share in his warm interest and affection. He declared that Salisbury's government was now encouraging Irish land occupiers to believe that judicial rents were to be reduced; but, referring to Churchill's address at Bedford Saturday, he remarked that the performance of that noble lord, who was less than his name, there could be no doubt, said Mr. Gladstone, that it was to England's interest, as well as to that of Ireland, to concede Ireland's request. He avowed his opinion that there was a stain upon England in respect to her relations with Ireland, which he believed her to remove. In conclusion he expressed the hope that the triumph of their cause might come with promptitude, bringing cheerfulness and joy, and that there might be no intervening period of gloom through refusal of justice.

A Row in a Rural Commission. BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 5.—The royal commission of inquiry on the Belfast riots opened its session here Monday. All the barristers but two insisted on an adjournment for fifteen minutes for the purpose of deciding upon what course to adopt in pursuing the investigation of the cause that led the riots. Justice Day refused to grant an adjournment on the ground that it would be a waste of time. The justice then proceeded to examine a witness, whereupon the members of the bar rose and left the court in a procession, bearing with them their bags, books and briefs. Several solicitors, priests and Orangemen followed the example of the barristers. Burrows O'Shaughnessy was indignant at the action of Judge Day, and remarked in court that the Irish had never received such treatment. Indignation meetings were held Monday night to protest against Justice Day's treatment of the members of the Irish bar.

It transpires that Messrs. French and Adams, the Irish members of the royal commission, favored the request of the barristers for an adjournment, while Messrs. Balmer and Hardy opposed the same. The latter, refusing to grant the same. It is rumored in legal circles that Mr. Adams will probably retire from the commission as a result of the proceedings.

Counts Lord Randal a Radical. LONDON, Oct. 5.—Joseph Arch, the well-known Radical member of parliament, in a speech at Reading, said that he was convinced that if Lord Randolph Churchill had not been a Radical before, he certainly was now, but he warned his hearers against accepting the policy mapped out by the Conservatives, and asked them not to be deceived by their promises.

The Government "All Tied Up." DUBLIN, Oct. 5.—A package containing government dispatches, intended for Mr. Butler, who commands the troops engaged in evicting tenants in the county Kerry, has been lost. There is much excitement and alarm in government circles over its disappearance.

A Warning to Churchill. DUBLIN, Oct. 5.—The Freeman's Journal, in an article published Monday morning, warns Lord Randolph Churchill that if he really believes the Irish difficulty is solely agrarian he will find himself in a very awkward position.

"RULERS OF THE QUEEN'S NAVY."

How the Admiralty Stand Suit Waters—"Yachtsmen" in Identity.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The recent adventures of the lords of the admiralty have furnished a standing joke in official and club circles. Immediately after the conclusion of the debate of Mr. Farnell's land bill Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty, with a party comprising Lord Charles Beresford, Admiral Sir A. Hood, Mr. Ashmead Bartlett, junior lords of the admiralty; Mr. A. B. Forwood, secretary to the admiralty, and others shared on the customary cruise of inspection annually indulged in by the admiralty lords. The cruise generally means a season of jollity lasting a month or two on board the superb yacht Eucalyptus. All went smoothly with the party, until they arrived at Portsmouth, where a fearful gale set in, and the season of jollity ended. The first one to succumb to the effects of the sea was Admiral Hood, whose nautical experience in London had not included storms, seas, and he sought his berth at the first sight of the gale. Mr. Bartlett was the next victim, and a few hours later Mr. Forwood was heard to express a desire to commit suicide as a means of securing relief from the pangs of seasickness. The result was that instead of continuing the voyage and cruise, the lords of the admiralty, and the "big wig" refused to go further, and took train for London, where they arrived in a very woe-begone condition. The permanent officials in the admiralty office have suddenly developed a fondness for singing and whistling the music of "Pines and Pines" and display great unanimity in the selection of that part of Gilbert and Sullivan's opera which concerns the advice to "stick close to your desks and never go to

OLD WORLD CLEANINGS.

Revolution Reported at Sofia. LONDON, Oct. 5.—Despatches from Bucharest say that reports have been received that of revolutions in Sofia and Timova. Sofia, Oct. 5.—All the insurgent officers, with the exception of seven, who were instrumental in the recent abdication of Prince Alexander, have been released. Gen. Kaulbars unexpectedly made his appearance at a meeting held by 5,000 citizens of Sofia to consider the political crisis. He declared that the war would not recognize the abrogation of the constitution, and was a supporter of Prince Alexander. The shouts of the people became so tumultuous that the Russian agents withdrew.

Key the Consul List on Them. CHERNOBYL, Oct. 5.—The board of trade at a meeting Monday resolved to ask the government to endeavor by diplomacy to remove the detrimental effect caused by United States Consul Tanner's report charging that the merchants of Chernobyl resort to corrupt devices in the manufacture of their cotton goods, hosiery, mitts, etc.

All the Papers Favor Clemency. MADRID, Oct. 5.—The journals of this city are almost unanimous in appealing for clemency for the condemned insurgents.

The Pope has urged the queen of Spain to commute the death sentence passed upon Gen. Villacampa and his associates in the recent revolt.

A Specimen Moonlighter Gismo. DUBLIN, Oct. 5.—A party of moonlighters Sunday night attacked the house of a farmer named Jones, at Gleda, near Tralee, County Kerry. They fired a fusillade at the building, shattering the door and wounding two of the farmer's daughters.

AFFAIRS IN MONTANA. The Territorial Governor Has a Few Suggestions to Make.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 5.—Governor Blaine, of Montana, reports to the interior department that the crop in that territory are very poor, not being half an average. The grass on the ranges is also scanty and the winter is severe great loss in cattle must follow. Some of the large stock owners are driving their herds to the British possessions, and he recommends the granting of the privilege to the stockmen of pasturing their cattle on the Indian reservations north of the Missouri. The value of the stock is estimated at $2,000,000 and the number of cattle 1,500,000 head.

The mines of silver and copper have not been fully worked, owing to the low prices, but the output of the year was as follows: Gold, $1,500,000; silver, $1,000,000; copper, $1,000,000; lead, $1,000,000; zinc, $1,000,000. The governor says the necessity for the free coinage of silver with gold is becoming daily more evident. He protests against the report of the desert land law, under which and prospectors had been leaving a territory, to retard the progress of the territory, and adds that he does not believe that 5 per cent of the land entries in the territory are fraudulent.

THREE CRUSHED ON THE RAIL.

A Woman and Her Two Children Caught Under the Cars.

GALLSFORD, Ill., Oct. 5.—Monday evening at 10 o'clock, a passenger train, headed by the land heron, ran into a woman and her two children. The woman and her two children were struck by two cars which had been cut off upon one of the tracks at that point. All three were instantly killed. The woman was crushed beneath the cars. The boy's leg was horribly mangled, and he is not expected to live. One of the little girl's feet was crushed, and she is seriously injured. The tragedy has created great excitement, as the crossing is one of the most dangerous ones, and the crossing has been repeatedly cautioned to make it safe. The flagman had gone to supper and left a boy to do his work. Only a few days ago an old woman was killed by the same train. Mrs. Cunningham, mother of one of the children killed, is now in the hospital. The husband was killed by the cars a few months ago.

No Consolidation for the B. & O.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—Three of the highest officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph company were interviewed Monday night by a United Press reporter with regard to the announcement that the B. & O. and Western Union had consolidated. President Robert Garrett said: "There is absolutely no truth in the report that the B. & O. and Western Union are to be consolidated. The two companies are engaged with the Western Union or its interests. Equally unfounded is the rumor that our telegraph lines have or will be sold to Mr. Vanderbilt of England, who, as you are aware, is a Western Union man." The other two officials—General Superintendent Schenck and Dr. B. H. B. of the company's executive committee—were equally emphatic and said there was neither consolidation, consolidation, nor any other arrangement, nor any other scheme by which the two companies should be brought into community of interests, either suggested or intended, nor would there be any.

Another Ticket at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—The anti-Socialist faction of the labor party put up a ticket at a meeting of the north side Turner hall Monday night, which makes four tickets for the people of this country. The latest ticket is as follows: County judge, Richard Prendergast; probate judge, J. O. Kilduff; clerk, J. O. Kilduff; sheriff, John M. Murphy; treasurer, M. Schwesinger; county clerk, M. J. McFarlane; superintendent instruction, Albert C. Lane; congressman first district, Edgar Turner; second district, Frank Lawler; third, W. B. Mason; fourth, William McKelvey; and a full ticket for the legislature and other county positions.

Sugar from Surghum.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 5.—Last year the department of agriculture began to experiment in a small way at Ottawa, Kan., with the diffusion sugar-making process as applied to sorghum cane. Instead of crushing the cane, as in the sugar-cane process, it was shaved off in minute slices and the sugar, or sugar-yielding sap, extracted by steam of water. The results obtained were so encouraging that the field of operations was removed to Port. Since this year, and with a largely increased plant, experiments are now in progress on a scale of some magnitude. Monday a telegram was received from Professor Wiley, the chemist of the department, who is in charge of the works, announcing the complete success of the experiments.

The Score-Order Law Unconstitutional.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—The supreme court of Pennsylvania met in this city Monday morning. A large number of decisions were handed down. Prominent among them was the decision of Justice Gordon in reference to the score-order system, under act of June 20, 1885, which he (Gordon) utterly unconstitutionally declared void, as it is persons are prevented from making their own contracts, and that it works equally detrimental to the interests of both employer and employee.

Down in "Big Boy" Stock.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—The Journal says: The stock of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis & Chicago was sold on Saturday at par. That the road in 1887 will become a 4 per cent. per annum, dividend-paying road is no longer a question. Five years ago it was hard to dispose of "Big Boy" stock at 75 cents on the dollar.

The Knights Decided the Election.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Oct. 5.—At the city election Monday the Democrats elected their entire ticket, the Knights of Labor having their influence to it because the Republican nominee refused to preside at a demonstration last July.

TOBACCO.

What has Been Done Here and Elsewhere.

A Dull Market—The Outlook Among Eastern Tobacco Dealers.

JANESVILLE. The '85 crop has shown itself to be especially suitable for binders, and the sales that have been made were mostly with this in view. Prices are low, and the market is quiet. The shipments made during the week have been reasonably large, but they were composed principally of packages that were put up by eastern men, and are now being taken to headquarters.

The new crop is now in the shed. A few fields of leaf that were left out last week have been killed by the frost but no damage of any importance was done and the grower may congratulate himself in most cases on having tobacco that is "very good what there is of it."

Our correspondence from Stoughton, Edgerton and other outlying points indicates that the condition of things there is about the same as it is here. The dealers do not care to talk very much about the future of this year's leaf for the general sentiment is that they do not care for any until they can dispose of their old packings.

IN GENERAL.

As has often been suggested, the New England crop brings a better price than that of the west, because better care is taken of it. Seed leaf grown in Connecticut brings from ten to fifteen cents; that same variety grown in Wisconsin brings only one-half of that. In speaking of this matter the American Cultivator says that the closest attention is necessary to hold that supremacy, and especially care must be taken to keep the land well supplied with lime so that a good white ash is secured.

The frosts have handled Wisconsin very tenderly this year. Instead of crowding down early in September they waited until October and gave the signal service a copy of their programme in advance even then. Around Janesville the crop was nearly all harvested and we hear of very few fields that suffered. At Stoughton and Edgerton it was the same way. Another favorable circumstance is that the leaf when shed was fully ripe and that the seasons of last year were not repeated. There is likely to be no trouble from green tobacco and the thick leathery leaf that is making so much trouble for packers will be only an insistent dream of the past when next season comes.

NEW YORK CITY.

A lump sale of 1,500 cases of '85 Pennsylvania Havana seed at about 15 cents last week and importance to our market this week. Nothing is more apt to inspire confidence in the future of the seed trade than the transfer of packings from first hands to jobbers or manufacturers; but again nothing also is so apt to inspire the first hand to rush into the country and pay extravagant prices to the growers than just such sales as just such a lump of the year.

In New York state, as well as the Honesdale Valley, the restless packer is already at work securing the '85 crop of leaf. The reports of the prices that are being paid 15 to 25 cents are certainly true when referring to the aggregate. In some instances this is probably correct, but in many others it is not. Five or six years of confinement to losses have seriously cured them.—United States Tobacco Journal.

OTIHO.

Occasional sales of old stock afford little scope for quotation, and a few sales of leaf are being made in small quantities. The new crop is under cover and curing rapidly under very favorable conditions. Some planters have commenced drying their leaves in artificial heat, but this is a very risky experiment. A few varieties exhibit beautiful colors and exceptional qualities.—Montgomery Bulletin.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The home market exhibited a fair degree of activity. Without a seemingly brisk demand from abroad, a good many goods nevertheless changed hands. The whole summing up is 1350 cases. Compared with the transaction of last week this is a gain of 900 cases. Prior to the corresponding week of the previous year 2885 cases were sold.—Lancaster New Era.

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

The crops of the '84 and '85 crops is still sought to be sold by dealers from New York as well as local packers. Prices do not advance as hoped for yet. It is true the advance is from 20c to 10c, equal to 20 per cent. Many growers had vain hope that old-time prices were to be paid for their crops.—American Cultivator.

ORFORDVILLE.

Old Jack Frost has made an end to tobacco work. Nearly the whole crop was shedded before the cold night.

Dr. Johnson's brother-in-law has returned home from a visit with relatives and friends in and around Orford.

Christ Steinmolin has returned from his trip through Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota. He has bought land and intends to move out there as soon as he can dispose of his property here. Christ claims to be a good man and a good worker, and is engaged to marry a daughter of a prominent family in Iowa. That's right, Christ, follow Greeley's advice, "go west and grow up with the country." Mr. Barker, son of our merchant, has also returned from a California trip, we understand.

Last Sunday, Prof. E. G. Stub, from the Lutheran seminary, Madison, preached in the Lutheran church of this place, on the missionary work among the Indians and other heathen. A benediction was taken up for the benefit of the missionary work.

Last Wednesday will long be remembered among the Norwegians around here. The best congregation has bought more land for a cemetery, and on this day was designated to be the one on which the addition was to be dedicated. The church was full to overflowing at an early hour. Rev. Berg, assisted by Rev. I. Hovind, spoke in the church, after which the congregation, headed by the minister, under the folding of the church bell, marched to and around the new cemetery in procession. After song by the choir Rev. Berg in a few appropriate words (addressed the newly bought land) to be a burying ground for that congregation. After these festivities a banquet was held at the parsonage, where impromptu speeches were made, interspersed with piano music. May the "city of the silent" be remembered with solemn remembrance.

DEAR SIRS: In reply to yours of the 16th inst., would say that during the past ten years this company has employed about 150 of your graduates. About thirty-five of them are now in its employ as agents and operators, giving good satisfaction, the others have left us at different times to accept positions on other railroads. We shall continue to send to you for operators whenever we need them. In view of the certainty of a great revival of railroad building in 1886, I know of no business which offers equal opportunities for advancement. Being myself a graduate of your school, I heartily recommend it to all who may wish to learn telegraphy.

Remarkable Recovery of an Ohio Woman From Partial Blindness—An Indiana Man's Mysterious Disappearance and Return—A Mexican Hill Split by Seismic Convulsions.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Oct. 5.—Miss Madeline Bailey, of Merrimack, has been recently suffering from nervous prostration, brought on by nursing her mother through a long and fatal illness. Sunday she grew worse rapidly. A clergyman, called, who made all preparations for a departure from this world, and after growing steadily weaker for several hours, lay back on the pillows and apparently expired. The limbs grew stiff, and after a few hours grave clothes were brought out and preparations were made to lay out the body. Suddenly a slight perspiration broke on the body, and with a long-drawn respiration the vital spark, which seemingly had long been exhausted, flamed up once more, and to the surprise of those gathered there, the supposed corpse sat up in her bed and surveyed with half-dazed eyes the numbers gathered around.

The first word uttered by any of the party came from the doctor, who said: "You are all alike accounts tell: 'Oh, heaven, is a beautiful place, and I should have been so happy to have stayed there, but I longed to see my brother and sister once more.' As soon as possible the room was cleared and the deceased was laid out on a table. Her face was as fresh as when she was last seen, and her eyes were open and bright. She had, however, been in the hospital for some time, and her health was steadily improving. During the last two days Miss Bailey had been somewhat delirious.

Henry Jamison's Mystery.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—Five years ago Henry Jamison was sent to the insane asylum here and since then underwent a painful operation. Before he had recovered he disappeared very mysteriously, and his friends in Clay county believed that he had died and had been buried there, and every effort on the part of the authorities to find him was regarded as a failure. Five years passed, during which time no word was received as to Jamison's whereabouts or fate, and he was long since given up as dead. Sunday he made his appearance at his father's house, creating, naturally enough, as much excitement as an apparition might have done. He is apparently in good health, though not of sound mind. He either can not or will not give any account of himself, either in the asylum or during the years in which he has been missing.

Recovered Her Sight During Sleep.

WHEELING, Ohio, Oct. 5.—Fifteen years ago the sight of Mrs. Devine C. Smith's left eye became impaired and the sight of it was lost. Eminent oculists endeavored to recover the lost sight, but all agreed that the eye was hopeless and that the right eye would become impaired from the injury of the left. On returning to bed the other night Mrs. Smith was troubled with sharp pains in her left eye, the lids of which kept up a constant twitching. After considerable suffering from the pains in the left eye, she awoke and found the pain had left her and that the sight of the left eye, which had been destroyed for fifteen years, had returned, and now the sight of both eyes is excellent.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 5.—Professor W. E. Sawyer, of Yale, is an old classmate of Secretary Whitney. The professor recently met Whitney, and tells with a smile Whitney's laconic opinion of Cleveland and the administration.

Said Sawyer: "Well, Bill, you have had an experience of a year and more of it; now what do you think of the president and the administration?"

Whitney looked calmly over his glasses at the professor's remark, and then, after a short pause, he said: "You want to know what I think of this administration? Well, I'll tell you in a word. Where the old man sits, there's the head of the table, and all hands have found it out by this time."
